Can I rent a small cabin at this time? Yes. Individual cabins are available to get away. Food service and gathering places are not available at this time.

What precautions will be in place when you re-open? Laurelville has always instituted best practices of the hospitality industry to keep our guests healthy. We employ a professional cleaning team and professional contractors, send linens out to Laurel Linen Service, Inc. for professional laundering, certify food service staff through ServSafe, purchase all of our high-quality food through US Foods, and use products and application standards from professional supply companies such as EcoLab.

Has Laurelville been impacted by COVID-19 financially? Yes. We have incurred the loss of income thus far for 1.5 months of guest groups and programs.

How can we help?

- Continue to practice distancing so this settles down sooner rather than later.
- Keep planning retreats! We were made to fellowship and to be in community. God's people will need to gather when this lifts. Perhaps this will be the perfect year for you to plan one!
- Consider a gift of operational support. In times like these, ministry & non-profit organizations like ours need support! While we are mindfully reducing expenses, many operational expenses do remain. If you would like to donate, you can do so here: <https://laurelville.org/about-us/donate/>.
- Pray for us and we'll pray for you (share requests via email: info@laurelville.org)
- Keep the Faith!
- "Like" our Laurelville Facebook page to receive updates.
